

Wallace, Demonstrators A First for L. G.

Former Gov. (Alabama) George C. Wallace, the first presidential candidate since Barry Goldwater stopped here in 1964, visited Lemon Grove Friday.

He told a partisan crowd of 200, who gathered at Lemon Grove VFW Hall to cheer him, that he found fault with Supreme Court rulings, racial atmosphere created by the administration, poverty programs, government's indulgence in business, loss of Constitutional freedoms, and the loss of local governmental control.

Wallace said he could change the course of events if enough people registered as a member of the American Independent Party . . . enough to get him on the '68 ballot. Few had signed as he left the building.

Sharing attention with Wallace was Lemon Grove's first bona fide demonstration. Five college students and a high school girl carried placards mildly remonstrating Wallace. "Would you want your daughter to marry George Wallace?" asked one. "George Wallace is absurd," was the intellectual approach of another.

The demonstration was ramrodded by pretty, pert Paula Hollowell, a Lemon Grove student who is a music major at State. So well behaved were the demonstrators that the six police officers and ten bodyguards attending Wallace had no problem with them.

Miss Hollowell said she read about Wallace's scheduled appearance in last week's issue of this newspaper and decided that she, and the other five demonstrators ought to give more than lip service disapproval of Wallace's reputation of segregation.

"I work with youngsters for the Urban League and deal with children of welfare recipients through the Southwest Y, and teach catechism at St. John of the Cross — and I've found the greatest single element the less fortunate need is love."

Miss Hollowell is attending State on a musical (cello) scholarship and she missed the Dean's List by two-tenths of a point last year.

Friday, she said, she hurriedly got together with Larry Shields, a Grossmont Junior; Tom Howard, her sister Carla, a Mt. Miguel student; Eileen Griffin and John Plumber. They had all attended Mt. Miguel.

Midway in the picketing, they dropped their banner and went inside to listen to Wallace. When Wallace emerged, Miss Hollowell gave him a flower. She told him that he should feel love for the Negroes as she had for him. Wallace bowed and kissed her cheek.

Not all attended to sign up for the AIP. Mrs. Richard Van Zele, of 8306 Golden ave., came to pay respects as a former school mate in Alabama. Joan Van Zele and Wallace attended the University of Alabama.

Mrs. Jewel Simons, of 6334 Mallard st., came on a 'kissin' cousin' project. "My grandmother was a Wallace she said. He (Wallace) told me he was related to some of the people that I am. Related or not, I like what he stands for," she said.

Dan Thren, a Lemon Grove realtor, said "I want to hear what he has to say." On the same day he spoke at Lemon Grove, Wallace also appeared at Escondido, Vista, in Mission Valley, at Chula Vista, El Cajon and in San Diego.

Officers who accompanied him said that there were no incidents and that there had been no turnaway crowds. The attendance was "comfortably large," a Sheriff's detective said.

Wallace's headquarters are at 3288 El Cajon blvd.

DEMONSTRATORS — Well-behaved was the word for six demonstrators who protested mildly. All are former or present Mt. Miguel high school students. Rest are college students. All protested "Wallace's policy of segregation".

KISSIN' COUSINS? — Ex-Governor George C. Wallace greets Mrs. Jewel Simons of Mallard st. whose grandmother is a Wallace. They found they had common relatives. Center, background, is Dan Thren, local realtor.

At Grossmont College Trustees Boycott Communist Speaker

Overriding the request of an eight-member committee, Grossmont College Trustees voted against the plans of a student organization to bring a Communist speaker on campus tomorrow.

At its Monday night meeting, the Board of Trustees, numbering just three members, voted 2-1 to prohibit the appearance of William C. Taylor of the Communist Party of the United States. The Student Open Forum Club had requested the appearance of the speaker, with approval from a committee consisting of students, faculty, administration, and trustees.

Board members Rexford Hall and Robert Dryden opposed the bid for the Communist speaker, while Mrs. Portia Goode cast the approving vote. Trustees Palmer Svalstad and George Birch were ill.

Taylor was to have spoken tomorrow during the college hour, when most of the students are out of class. Communist speakers are not prohibited by any college policy, but have been denied permission to speak on several occasions in the last two years.

College President Harold Hughes had reported to the Trustees that Taylor was a spokesman and organizer for the party in the states of Connecticut and Maryland, and Washington, D.C. He has made speaking appearances at various high schools in the Los Angeles area, and also at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Taylor, a World War II veteran, is also a member of the national committee of the Southern California district board of the Communist party.

In other action taken by the Trustees at the Monday night meeting, a free speech area was created on the campus of the college, located in front of the library.

The creation of the new area was approved in order to eliminate the necessity of administrative approval before protests, picketing, and other demonstrations could be staged.

The new policy on "free speech" also eliminated the need for facility requests for various activities. Previously, the dean of students had to be provided with these requests, and he determined approval or disapproval of certain activities. Students can now gather without giving advance notice to the administration.

In accordance with the approval of the "free speech" area, the Trustees requested that the administration submit a report on success of the project in about two or three months.

Story of Birth To Be Told Again

Each year, at Christmas-time, this newspaper publishes on its front page the story of the birth of Jesus. The story is written as though we had a reporter on the scene. We're doing it again this year in the publication dated Dec. 21.

The coverage is factual, interesting and touching. Those subscribers who have seen it in the years past may want additional copies.

White Stuff Is Snow!

"Snow Flurries on Lemon Grove."

What a song title! Title or not, snow did flurry on Lemon Grove Wednesday and it drove old-timers scurrying for the records.

Snow records are not kept at the local weather bureau (L.G. Fire Station) but rain and temperature record keepers said that no snow had fallen on the land of the lemon during their memory.

Paul Tilton, the town's welder and former fire commissioner, said that snow was widespread in Lemon Grove and San Diego County on Dec. 12, 1934. Snow was one-third the way down Mt. Helix, he recalled. Three inches fell on El Centro, where Tilton was at that day.

The temperature during the 7:30 a.m. flurry was a chilly 42 degrees.

Light showers Thursday and Friday added .07 of an inch to the rainfall total here.

The new total for the rain season is 5.46 inches.

At the same period last year the total was 6.04 — a heavy rain on Dec. 5, 1966 produced 2.76 inches to shoot up the total.

Nixon Probable Candidate Says High School Students

As goes Helix, so goes the nation.

If this assumption holds true, Republicans will select Richard M. Nixon as their standard bearer when the GOP meets in July.

A poll of 10 percent of the Helix student body shows the former vice president to be the Republican choice with 52 votes to runner-up Gov. George Romney's 43 votes. California's Gov. Ronald Reagan was a close third with 42, while barely edging New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller who tallied 40 votes.

Trailing the leaders were Illinois' Sen. Charles Percy, with 28, Barry Goldwater, the 1964 GOP nominee, with 17; New York City's Mayor John Lindsay with 16; and a number of write-in candidates.

Heggland To Retire

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — Chief County Administrative Officer T. M. Heggland told the board of supervisors Dec. 5 that he will resign on April 1st.

He said he was making the early announcement so that the county civil service department would have plenty of time to find an eligible list of replacements.

Heggland has worked for the county since 1949. He is 62.

Receiving two or more write in votes were Sen. Everett Dirksen, of Illinois; Martin Luther King, civil rights leader; George Wallace, former Alabama governor; Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge; and Shirley Temple Black, former movie star and recently defeated congressional aspirant.

Nixon's vote represented 21 percent of the votes cast.

No vote was taken to determine the Helix Democratic standard bearer as it is held in most political circles that President Johnson will be his party's choice in '68.

OTD Parade Date Stated

The Old Time Days parade next year will be held on May 25, it was agreed at the regular meeting of the L.G. OTD Committee.

A contest will be held as the holidays end, for a design of an emblem to represent the annual event. A $25 Savings Bond will be offered as prize.

In December, a 'campaign for sponsors will be conducted. Dr. Sam Smith has been named to head this project. He will also head the publicity committee.

Guidlines For a Guilty Plea

If you think you can "cop a plea", to get a quicker trial — think again.

Judge John A. Decker, of the Milwaukee County Circuit Court, in a current issue of TRIAL, the magazine of the Trial Lawyers Association, reminds of the steps that should be taken by a trial judge in a criminal case.

"Copping a plea" is slang for pleading guilty. Judge Decker's list of steps is a result of "(the) recent thrust in the dramatic expansion of substantive rights for those accused of crime has been the development of procedural protection for such rights."

Here are the steps newly recommended:

1. Read the indictment to the defendant.
2. Inquire about the defendant's intelligence and explain charges in suitable terms.
3. Ask defendant how he wishes to plead.
4. Ascertain defendant's reasons for pleading guilty.
5. Explain meaning of right to trial and effect of waiver.
6. Ask if defendant wishes to waive his right to trial.
7. Request prosecutor to summarize evidence he can produce to support his case.
8. Inquire into circumstances of apprehension, police practices during arrest, and defendant's discussion of the case personally.
9. Make specific inquiry of the defendant as to any plea arrangement made.
10. Ask prosecutor and defense counsel whether any plea arrangements were made or discussed with any parties.
11. If there has been no plea arrangement, explain the plea consequences. If a plea has been made, determine that it is not an abuse of prosecutor's discretion.
12. If the plea arrangement is appropriate, explain the court's independence from the prosecutor and its practice of withholding decision on sentences or dismissal charge until time for action arises.
13. If defendant persists in a guilty plea, decide whether it is in his interest to plead guilty and, where acceptance of the plea does not bind the court, that defendant understands that plea arrangement is merely a recommendation.
14. If there was no coercive influence, explain the range of possible punishment, possibility of multiple offender statute application and absence of any particular rehabilitation procedure.
15. Ask defendant if he has questions or statements to make and whether he is satisfied with his attorney's services.
16. Finally, ask defendant to enter his plea.

In many cases where the defendant wishes to plead guilty, he is using considerably more of the court's time than he used in perpetrating the crime.

It is not suggested that anyone's right to a fair trial be denied. But such over-assurance brings silly season to courts already backlogged with trials.

An over-thorough investigation places a greater financial burden on those who have to pay the costs of operating courts without providing substantially to the defendant's right to a fair trial.

Record Enrollment at Grossmont

Grossmont College prepare for record spring semester enrollment as over 5,000 registration priority notices are delivered to continuing students. To take advantage of the established priority and early registration the continuing student must file his proposed program in the Counseling Office prior to tomorrow.

According to C. Vander Poll, college registrar, over 400 registration priority notices have already been returned to the college by the Post Office as undeliverable. "Change of address is the primary reason for returning the registration notices," Vander Poll said. "Students who have changed their address during the current semester or have not received their registration priority notice should contact the Admissions and Records Office."

Christmas Is a Giving Experience!

In a world whose major philosophy seems to be "getting to live," it is refreshing to approach a season which places an emphasis on "GIVING" to live.

At this time of year the air is electrified with "peace on earth, good will toward men." Our hearts vibrate with a closer walk with all humanity. We criticize less, and love more. Giving becomes more of a joy, than receiving.

The Golden Rule becomes more a part of our Soul than just memorized lines.

It is significant that the first Christmas gift was not "to a life," but "of a life." God expressed His love for the world He created by "giving His Son" to give us His way of life — and the dawn of a new age was ushered in with the birth of Christ. His message gave birth to a new philosophy of life which was, indeed, destined to end an era of chaos.

Giving and love go hand in hand. Because of love, Jesus gave Himself for us. Hence, we cannot do less than give of ourselves when we seek to express our love and gratitude to God and to others.

To catch this spirit in our hearts is to face the most marvelous Christmas ever. One never really lives until he stops trying to save himself and begins losing himself to something BIGGER than he is. It is a law of spiritual compensation that if "we give to the world the best that we have, the best will come back to us," and often in greater abundance.

Knowing that the greatest good comes from helping others, giving you this food for thought — instead of successful case histories — gives me great joy as I know it did to Dr. James W. Parker, who gave it to me and taught me how to use it every day in our busy office.

We cherish for each reader along with our many friends and patients the exhilarating experience of "giving himself away." You have something wonderful to give that someone else needs. Discover for yourself this Christmas that it is "far better to give than to receive."

May this Christmas principle give you the true spirit of Christmas. May the joy of giving be reflected in God's richest blessing of health and happiness for you and all your loved ones, and may this Golden Rule and its teachings bring you and yours a Golden New Year of prosperity.

Meanwhile, if you are suffering, be good to yourself, give yourself a chance to get well. Investigate! What can you lose except your ill health?

"Silver Bells" Helix Theme For Christmas

"A Symphony of Silver Bells" is the theme of this year's Helix High School Christmas Dance. The dance, sponsored by the Helix Girls' league, will be held at the Balboa Park Club tomorrow night from 8 to 11:30 p.m.

Honored guests will be the 1966-67 Christmas Dance King and Queen, Rick Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Edwards of 7325 Sono pl., La Mesa, and Sandy Stokes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford S. Stokes of 3875 Violet st., La Mesa. Sandy will end her reign by crowning the new queen, and Rick will present the new king with the scepter.

Music will be provided by the "Fabulous Extremes." The dance is open to Helix students and their guests.

According to tradition the dance is a "girl-ask-boy, boy-bring toy." The toys will be distributed by the Girls' League to underprivileged children.

"This year's Christmas Dance should be the best ever, and one of the biggest highlights of the year," Sheri Strassburg, Christmas Dance chairman, said.

Heartland YMCA to Expand With Enclosed Swimming Pool

A Facilities Expansion Campaign for capital funds in the amount of $175,000 has been set by the Heartland Y Board for late January, according to Clarence Watters, Jr., chairman of the Board.

Watters indicated that Albert C. Marshall, a member of the Heartland Y Board has been appointed to chair a special committee charged with organizing the Facilities Expansion Campaign.

Marshall, in accepting the appointment, pointed out that in the Heartland area with a population of a quarter million people there are only three public swimming pools, and this in a county that is the "aquatic capital" of the West.

The expanded facilities will include an enclosed swimming pool designed especially for instruction and family use. The two handball courts will also be used for paddle ball, squash, judo, volleyball, and exercise. Complete dressing rooms will serve youth and adults.

The Board's move follows several years of study on the youth and family needs in the area. Watters indicated that everything pointed to a pressing need of greater opportunities for the youth and growing families to participate in character building activities, leadership training and physical fitness programs.

Junior High Concert Draws Large Crowd

Dear Santa:
I have been a good boy, but I'm always losing my keys (they wear holes in my pocket and drop through). So will you please bring Frenchy (Lemon Grove Postmaster) new boxes for his nice, white Post Office building that don't have keys like the boxes in the old building.

Thank you and Merry Christmas
Eddie

It was "standing room only" last night, as the music department of Lemon Grove Jr. High School presented its annual Christmas Concert to the community.

The 70 piece orchestra, under the direction of Harry Weisgerber, played music of the season, both traditional and contemporary. Unusual numbers were presented by a French Horn ensemble, and also a woodwind ensemble.

Girl Scout Chatter

by Mary D. Giacinto

Mrs. H. R. Kingsbury has kept her Junior Girl Scout troop No. 1022 quite busy in keeping with the season. The girls have completed door decorations for Christmas and are making gift litter bags. This is a gentle hint to keep Lemon Grove clean and beautiful.

In the preparation stage are trays favors which the girls will fashion for convalescent home patients in our area. They plan to lend their lovely young voices in Christmas carols as they disperse their gifts.

Lila Parrot, leader of troop No. 141 has had her Brownie troop for two years. At their Christmas party, last night, the girls received their one year pins as well as invested new members into their troop. The Brownies are working hard on crafts and gift making for Christmas. They have taken many nature hikes and recently visited the Bradley gourd farm.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

Can the Spanish word "hay" have more than one meaning? es, "hay," pronounced "AH-ee" has many meanings and is a very useful word for one who is just beginning to learn the language.

There are four basic meanings for the word "hay." It may be used in the expression "Hay muchas flores." (There are many flowers.) where it means "There are." It may be used in the question "Hay muchos amigos?" (Are there many friends?) where it means "Are there?"

In the question "Hay una camisa?" (Is there a shirt?) the word "hay" means "Is there?" In the expression "Hay una blusa." (There is a blouse,) the word "Hay" means "There is."

Thus, the word "hay" can mean "is there?" or "there is." It can also mean "are there?" and "there are."

The negative form of "hay" may be made by placing the word "no" directly before "hay." An example of this is shown in the phrase "No hay dinero." (There is no money.) The negative plural is represented in the phrase "No hay muchas casas." (There are not many houses.)

Practice phrases in today's lesson have the word "hay" used in various ways. Read over the expressions and use the phonetic guide to assist you in the pronunciation. Then dial 276-2762 on your telephone where you will hear an automatic recording which will lead you in saying the words and phrases.

IMPORTANT PHRASES

Say "Hay muchas flores." (AH-ee MOO-chahs FLOH-rehs) for "There are many flowers."

Dear Santa

Dear Santa Claus,

I am three years old and my mommy is helping me write this letter. I have been a good boy. Could you make me a tractor for Christmas with a fan that really goes around and a plastic motor that has a switch and the motor turns on. The pistons on the motor go up and down and there are wires sticking out. This is all I really want and I thought I would write early.

Love,
Carl Andrew Dean
